

A Tale of Two Students

SK Sanwal

SK Sanwal, (Age:- 16) belonging to our first batch. He belongs to a very poor family of the minority community. His father SK Delwar is the helper of a mason and mother Farida Begum, a vegetable seller. But this humble parentage has not deterred Sanwal from achieving higher success. We mainstreamed him to 'Govt of India Press Quarter Primary School' Howrah, in class I (One) in the year 2000. He did very well in studies and was admitted to 'Satashi High School' in class V (Five) in the year 2004. He is now a student of class IX (Nine) of the same school and he having a good academic record so far. But his favorite subject is 'History', that is not all. He is a very promising football player and is a regular member of the 'Morning Star Club'.

Like other boys of his age Sanwal has his own ambition and wants to join the Police to serve his country when he grows up.

Ayub Sarder

The profile of another of our students Ayub sarder (Age; - 13+), is worth mentioning here. A drop out in class II (Two), we have brought him back to regular school life through bridge course training. We mainstreamed him to 'Uttar Jagacha Primary School' Howrah, in class IV (Four) in the year 2007. He is now a student of class VI (Six) in 'Jagacha High School' Howrah, with a good academic record. On addition to studies he also tutors his two young sisters of classes I (One) and III (Three) at home. He loves to keep himself busy in study and help to teach his two younger sisters. He also belongs to a very poor family of the minority community. His father Ukil Sarder is a mason and mother Arifa Bibi, a domestic help.

But all this adversity has inspired Ayub to dream for success life.
